

Locating your toilet's model number

The model number for a toilet is often a combination of letters and numbers. Below are examples:

- C21083C
- N2316R-DFIN
- 2880.500

Note that the toilet brand and model is not the model number (e.g. American Standard Edgemere Dual Flush, WaterRidge).

How to Determine the Model Number

1. The model number can be located:
 - a. On the toilet packaging
 - b. Inside the toilet tank or lid. Remove the lid of the toilet tank. Look inside the lid for the model number or inside the toilet tank. The model number may be printed on either of these surfaces.
2. The model number can also be determined by contacting and providing the store with the product item number that is printed on the receipt. The store may be able to use this information to determine the model number. Alternately, applicants can search online using the product item number that is printed on the receipt. Some store websites include the product item number and model number on their toilet product webpages.
