

Residential Districts – Use Review

Summary

The following document has been prepared under the greater Land Use Bylaw (LUB) Review Project goals and themes of reducing red-tape, simplifying the use of the LUB, improving customer service and respecting the community. This project aims to allow for more flexibility in the LUB while providing consistent standards and interpretation, simplifying the development process and timelines, and involving the public. The general purpose and land uses within each district play an important role as they provide clarity to what can be developed and where. Under the current LUB, several of the residential districts have been in place prior to the 1970s and require a large-scale detailed review to ensure the districts are reflective of today's development environment. Newer districts, which have been developed over the last ten years, are now maturing and require a thorough review to ensure they are still applicable and relevant for today's market.

In drafting new residential uses within the districts an emphasis was put on addressing “missing middle housing”. Addressing the missing middle housing will provide for a range of housing options found on typical low density lot sizes that focus on removing barriers to access housing in neighbourhoods of choice. The inclusion of missing middle housing promotes housing at different price points, promotes walkable and transit supportive neighbourhoods, responds to changing demographics, and provides opportunities for aging in place. Several use changes are proposed to increase housing options in low density districts while providing for appropriate densities in residential neighbourhoods. An example includes duplexes in the new R-L Residential Low Density district. Specific regulations for these options are currently under review.

Trending and newer residential uses were also considered as part of this review. This includes tiny homes, secondary dwellings (House Suites, Garage Suites and Garden Suites), and zero lot line developments. Tiny homes, dependent on how they are built, would be considered as a House or a Manufactured Home. Tiny homes considered as a House would be built on site on a foundation, those built on a chassis and placed on site would be considered as a Manufactured Home. Based on market demand it is anticipated that tiny homes would, in most cases, be developed in the new R-MH Manufactured Home district. House Suites, Garage Suites (formally known as Carriage Homes) and Garden Suites have been expanded to most residential districts as a permitted use. Zero lot line developments are now proposed in narrow lot developments. Regulations for each of these uses are currently under review.

While preparing this document, districts and uses from other municipalities were reviewed. This review provided a comparison of the general purpose for similar districts and the associated land uses. Ensuring that land uses are similar and competitive with other municipalities will help foster economic development within the City. Municipal review has provided insight to best practices and development trends.

In reviewing the residential uses several changes have been proposed. The key changes are highlighted below:

1. Merging of districts where appropriate

Several similar land use districts are proposed to be combined to allow for flexibility and to reduce duplication of uses and regulations where possible. The features that made each one of these districts unique will be brought forward in the new combined district where appropriate. The existing R1 Low Density, R1C Carriage Home, and R1WS Wide/Shallow Lot districts are proposed to be combined into a single low density district. R1N Narrow Lot and R1G Small Lot will be combined into a single narrow lot district, and the R2 Medium Density and R2T Town House district will be combined into a medium density residential district. District regulations will be reviewed and revised to ensure existing development and development concepts within an approved NASP are legal conforming unless there is reason to convert to legal non-conforming. District naming will be adjusted to better reflect the purpose of the districts for ease of clarity and to become more user friendly.

2. Greater flexibility of housing options in districts to promote increased housing choice and to reduce red-tape

Secondary dwellings (house suites, garage suites, and garden suites), duplexes, tiny homes, and zero lot developments are proposed to all be included in the proposed districts in some capacity. House suites, garage suites, and garden suites are proposed to be included in most residential districts as a permitted use. Siting criteria for these uses is still under review but it is expected to be similar to the current Secondary Suite regulations. Duplexes, similar in density to a secondary dwelling, are also proposed as a permitted use in the new R-L Residential Low Density district. It is proposed that the existing R1A Residential (Semi-detached Dwelling) district would be combined with the new R-L district and no district specific for duplex development would remain. This is the current practise in the City of Edmonton. Should this not be supported a new duplex district has been prepared as an alternative. Tiny homes, either defined as a House or Manufactured Home, are proposed to be considered in all districts allowing for these uses. And finally, zero lot line developments which speaks to site design and not a specific use is proposed to be allowed in the revised narrow lot district.

3. Wider range of compatible non-residential uses allowed to increase flexibility and reduce future land use bylaw amendments

In an aim to reduce red-tape and to create complete neighbourhoods several non-residential uses are proposed to be included in the residential districts. Accessory Buildings are proposed to be a permitted use in all districts, and Supportive Living and Care, Day Care Facility, Emergency Services, Public Assembly – Minor, Temporary Care Facility, and Utilities are proposed as discretionary uses in most districts. In the R-LW Residential Live Work district several more commercial uses are proposed as either a permitted or discretionary use on the ground floor of a Live Work Unit.

Included in this package is a comparison of the existing and proposed residential district general purposes and general uses. See Appendix A for a detailed comparison of existing and proposed permitted and discretionary uses. Definitions for all proposed uses are included in Appendix B.

Existing and Proposed Residential District Purposes

Existing Purpose	Proposed Purpose	Rationale
R1 - The general purpose of this District is to provide land which will be used for low density residential development. R1C - The general purpose of this District is to provide the unique opportunity for one additional self-contained Dwelling Unit on a residential lot in the form of a Carriage Home located above a detached garage with lane access thereby increasing housing choices. R1WS - The general purpose of this District is to provide residential lots that have a wide frontage and a shallow depth intended to reduce the dominance of front attached garages from the street. Development will consist of detached dwelling units with articulated front elevations through the use of dormers, bays, porches and gable ends. Front attached garages cannot be closer to the street than the live portion of the house. Front porches are strongly encouraged and are allowed to encroach into the minimum front yard.	Low Density Residential (R-L) – To provide land for a range of different styles of Houses and compatible Residential uses.	More flexibility in the parcel regulations and will reduce the number of LUB amendments (re-districting) required.
R1N - The general purpose of this District is to provide land which will be used for narrow lot single family residential development in new neighbourhoods. R1G - The general purpose of this District is to provide land which will be used for small lot	Narrow Lot Residential (R-N) - To provide land which will be used for single family Residential Development and compatible Residential uses including Zero Lot Line Development on a narrower lot and in a higher density than the Low Density Residential (R-L) District.	More flexibility in the parcel regulations and will reduce the number of LUB amendments (re-districting) required.

detached housing with mandatory front attached garages to create increased opportunity for more efficient utilization of land in small and comprehensively planned residential development clusters.
R1A - The general purpose of this District is to provide land which will be used for low density residential development including semi-detached dwelling units.	Duplex Residential (R-D) - To provide land for Residential Development allowing for up to two principal Dwelling Units per Building primarily in the form of Duplexes.	Reworded for clarity.
RLW - The general purpose of this District is to provide opportunity for live-work units whereby street level commercial space is operated by the resident who occupies a residential dwelling unit above the ground floor commercial space. The form of development is similar to that of a multi-attached building but with ground floor commercial and each live-work unit having individual access to the street.	Residential Live Work (R-LW) – To provide for Live Work Units where each unit has individual access to the Street, ground level Commercial space, and Residential space above the ground level.	Updated defined terms. Removed reference to the user of the Site. Simplified.
R2 - The general purpose of this District is to provide a medium density residential area with a mixture of housing types and residential accommodation and at the same time control, regulate and encourage the development or redevelopment of residential uses that are compatible with the neighbourhood, the immediate site and the growth policies of the Municipal Development Plan. R2T - The general purpose of this District is to provide for town or row house development	Medium Density Residential (R-M) - To provide a medium density Residential area with a mixture of housing types and Residential accommodation.	Shortened. Removed “regulated and encouraged development/redevelopment of residential uses that are compatible with the neighbourhood, the immediate site and the growth policies of the MDP” as these are required through the Mature Neighbourhood Overlay District and MDP.

Existing Purpose	Proposed Purpose	Rationale
in traditional side by side lots, clustered, stacked or condominium format. No front driveways permitted to or from an arterial roadway.
R3 - The general purpose of this District is to accommodate and control medium and high density residential development.	High Density Residential (R-H) - To provide a higher density Residential area with a variety of housing styles .	Clarifies variety of housing styles at higher densities.
R4 - The general purpose of this District is to provide land for manufactured homes and manufactured home communities.	Manufactured Home Residential (R – MH) - To provide land for Manufactured Homes and Manufactured Home/Tiny Home communities.	Capitalized defined uses
R1E - The general purpose of this District is to permit existing acreage developments that have been annexed into the city to be in conformance with the Land Use Bylaw. This district is not intended for the creation of new acreages.	Acreage Residential (R-A) - To permit existing acreage Developments that have been annexed into the City to be in conformance with the Land Use Bylaw. This District is not intended for the creation of new acreages.	Capitalized “City”

Proposed Definitions

NOTE: For the most part these definitions have not been reviewed since the first circulation in April 2021. Revisions will occur in the coming months. Those that have been reviewed and revised are indicated in BLUE font. New definitions not included in the April circulation are shown in GREEN font.

Accessory Building means a secondary Building on a Site, the use of which is subordinate and incidental to that of the Principal Building on the same Site.

Accessory Use means a use which is subordinate and incidental to that of the principal use on the same Site.
